DCI Client Banker and Board Member Jeff Ball Elected to ABA Board of Directors

- Prominent California Banker Tapped for ABA Government Relations Council -

HUTCHINSON, KAN., October 20, 2016 – Data Center Inc. (DCI), the privately-owned developer of iCore360® core banking software and related technologies, announced that prominent client banker and company board member Jeffrey K. Ball, President and CEO of Friendly Hills Bank in Whittier, Calif., has been elected to the American Bankers Association (ABA) board of directors for the 2016-2017 association year and will serve as Vice Chairman of the ABA Government Relations Council.

Mr. Ball's resume of banking industry association leadership also includes roles as Past Chairman of the California Bankers Association (CBA), Chairman of the CBA Federal Government Relations Committee, and as a member of the ABA Grassroots Committee.

A long time bank client of DCI, Ball was elected to join seven other DCI client bankers on the company's board of directors in 2015.

“I am honored to be a part of the leadership at such great organizations like the ABA and DCI to help bankers nationwide succeed,” said Ball.

John Jones, DCI president and CEO, also commented, “The ABA made a wise choice electing Mr. Ball to their board of directors. As a DCI board member he is one of many reasons our customers know they can trust us to always put their interests first above all else and I am confident he will bring that same trust to the ABA.”
